

An Organized Band of Thieves.

(To the Editor Interior Journal.)

CRAB ORCHARD, Nov. 7.—From information I have received and from investigations I have made I am satisfied that there is a regularly organized band of thieves and house-breakers, who have their headquarters near the dividing line of Madison, Garrard, Lincoln and Rockcastle counties, and who deplete on the surrounding country, making their raids in bands, going heavily armed and defying arrest, threatening to burn the property of any person who informs on them. This state of affairs has been going on for more than a year and they have become so bold that they are now adding burglary to their list of crimes. Recently a store-house at Berea, one at Wallacetown and Green Brier Springs have been broken into and robbed and indications point conclusively to the fact that it has all been done by the same parties. The point is this, are the good citizens and the authorities going to allow such a state of affairs to exist? The names of the leaders are known and all that is wanting is the evidence to convict. I will give $25 for their arrest and conviction. Who will assist me in this matter? Write to me at Crab Orchard, Ky. Give all the information you can, which will be held confidentially until the proper time to act.

Receipt, D. G. SLAUGHTER.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Miss Ella McElroy and T. H. Hince, Clelland, prominent Lebanon people, were married last week.

—Mr. P. T. Reynolds and Miss Mattie Belle Mercer were married at J. F. Reynolds' Sunday. Each have seen 25 summers.

—The girl for whom Mand S. was named, Miss Mand Stone, of Cincinnati, is shortly to be married to Mr. Carey, of New York.

—At Kingwood, W. Va., Weaver Mesenger and Miss Ella Sheets were married. By it the bride becomes a sister-in-law to her step-mother and the groom is a son-in-law to his own sister.

—We acknowledge an invitation to the marriage of Miss Julia Bryan Yager, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Yager, to Mr. James T. Short, which is to occur at Broadway Christian church, Louisville, Nov. 23, at 9 p. m. The prospective bride has visited here frequently, where she is greatly admired for her amiability of character and her grace and beauty.

The Election and Inauguration.

The all-absorbing topic just now is the election; another great item of popular interest will be the inauguration; but no one at present can foretell how many items of interest to horsemen or how many important items will be published in the Kentucky Stock Farm during the next 14 months. This much can be relied upon, that they will be published, and as soon as they take place; yet the Kentucky Stock Farm offers to send its paper from date to January 1893—a period of 14 months—for $2, the regular price of a year's subscription. This is an exceptionally rare offer and one of which horsemen should avail themselves. The Stock Farm is published in Lexington, Ky., "The Hub of the Horse Universe." The earliest and most complete news from the "Hub" is its specialty and all news from other quarters its aim. A special Christmas number will be issued this year, which as a book of reference will be worth the price of subscription. Orders for the paper will be received at this office.

The Council Bluffs Nonpareil says of the company that is to appear at Walton's Opera House, Wednesday night, "the Last Evening Gorton's minstrels played to a fair-sized audience at Doherty's. It is a show full of good things and all the performers are artists in the front rank of minstrelsy. The only feature about it that the audience did not like was because the curtain failed to stay up several hours longer. The people would never tire of a performance as good as Gorton's minstrels and the music—well, it would be hard to excel by any other band that has ever played before the footlights at Doherty's."

A few nights ago a Tenville, Ga., young man called on a young lady of that place and, as the young lady didn't care much about him, she had not a great deal to say, but rested her hand on her head and listened to her youthful caller's discourse until a late hour. Finally she became drowsy and the next morning she and her caller were found hard and fast asleep in their respective chairs.

An honest Swede tells his story in plain but unmistakable language for the benefit of the public. "One of my children took a severe cold and got the croup. I gave her a teaspoonful of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and in five minutes later I gave her one more. By this time she had coughed up the gathering in her throat. Then she went to sleep and slept good for fifteen minutes. Then she got up and coughed, then she went back to bed and slept good for the remainder of the night. She got the croup the second night and I gave her the same remedy with the same good results. I write this because I thought there might be some one in the same need and not know the true merit of this wonderful medicine." Charles A. Thompson, Des Moines, Iowa. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Dr. M. L. Bourne, Druggist and Optician, Stanford, Ky.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—Mrs. John Shea died at her residence on Stanford street, Sunday morning, of consumption. The remains were taken to-day to Shelbyville for interment.

—Judge Walton Eason, who has been confined to his bed for several months, has recovered sufficiently to sit up, and his physician thinks he will be out in a few days.

—The election booths in the Park are exceedingly clumsy looking affairs, but Judge Robinson says he will have nicer ones next time. The present ones are made of the old iron roofing that was on Myers' livery stable.

—The effort to have a special wire run to the court-house to get the election returns failed to work and the bulletins will be received at the depot by Clyde Landrum, an expert telegrapher.

—Mr. Frank Meister, of Cincinnati, has purchased the confectionery of W. A. Arnold and taken charge of same. He is an expert flat cornet player and will lead the band. His baker will arrive this week and our citizens can then get fresh bread, cakes, &c., delivered at their homes.

—Mr. John Kirby is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Kirby. Mr. Wilson Moore, of Marksburg, was in town Sunday. Miss Lizzie Walker has returned from Knoxville. Invitations have been issued by Dr. and Mrs. B. F. Walter to a dinner Thursday in honor of Mrs. Elizabeth Hill. Col. D. R. Collier and son Will are here. Mr. and Mrs. Moses Collier have returned from a visit to Madison. Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Pascoe are in Cincinnati buying their Christmas goods.

—Prof. J. P. Sousa, late leader of the U. S. Marine Band at Washington, has written a piece entitled "Resumption March," which was composed in honor of the resumption of specie payment. What connection there is between the music and the resumption of specie payment would be difficult to determine in an ordinary life time; but the professor no doubt wanted a compliment from Secretary Sherman and doubtless preferred gold to greenbacks for his services for tooting at the presidential reception. Prof. W. P. Chambers has also published a piece entitled "King of Terror March." The professor no doubt thinks he has played the devil and turned up Jack in dedicating a march to his Satanic majesty, who will undoubtedly appreciate the compliment and assign the author to comfortable quarters should he visit his dominions in the grand wind-up.

—The battle for the spoils is on and the gay and festive floaters on top. He has assumed an importance that makes him feel his keeping, and he is glad to know that once in every year or so men of respectability recognize his importance; take off their hats to him and replenish his exchequer with something more substantial than the gush of spread-eagle orators. The office-holders are not reposing upon "flowery beds of ease" and the office-seekers, though hopeful, are on the ragged edge of uncertainty. Sunday is no longer Sunday when it comes only two days before the election. People go to church, but their minds wander in the direction of coming political events. The people, irrespective of party, are becoming convinced that we have too many elections and the bribery and corruption that is seen on every hand is a blot upon our boasted civilization. The presidential term should be extended to six years and the incumbent be ineligible a second term. The men who have nothing to do, and those who handle the money as well as the men who sell their votes are never so happy as when there is an exciting contest on hand, and men of either of those classes would be glad to see an election every day. It remains to be seen how much longer we are to retain our nationality, especially if there should come, as seems more than probable, a conflict between capital and labor. If this should come, the war in which the question of slavery figured so largely will dwindle into insignificance in comparison with what will be witnessed in this country. If the millionaire needs protection, certainly the interests of the millions who labor for their daily bread should not be overlooked.

LIBERTY, CASEY COUNTY.

—J. H. Thurman and Miss Lula Johnson, from Mercer county, were united in marriage at the clerk's office on Wednesday night, by Judge Wm. M. Myers. As both parties claimed to be of age, and there was no opposition among the old folks, it is an unraveled mystery why they came so far to have the knot tied. Many of the Liberty boys getting a hint of the matter hastened to the court-house to see the fun, but they were too late, as it was all over before they got there.

A small boy in a Brooklyn grammar school has furnished the latest information about girls in a recent composition: "Girls is pretty and afraid of guns. They wear toe rubbers and look at the clouds and say, 'O, how perfectly lovely!'"

—John R. Farris, the Lincoln county trainer, who has had charge of a stable of trotters and pacers at Lexington this season, is very sweet on his yearling pacer, Victor Mazone. He was asked about the youngster's condition the other day and said, "Well, sir, he's as fine as silk and will be a world beater next season. I have never yet touched bottom with him; he has just gone a little faster every time I called on him. I drove him a quarter several weeks ago in 291 seconds and I am sure he could have gone faster. We have been offered between $7,000 and $10,000 for him, but $10,000 was our price and he is still our property."—Lexington Times.

John Leslie, farmer and stockman, of same place, says: "And Electric Bitters is the best kidney and liver medicine made. I feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who falls on down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 5c a bottle at A. R. Penny's drug store."

—Judge Hughes, of Harrodsburg, made one of the best democratic speeches Saturday night heard here during the present campaign. Judge Breckinridge followed with a few well timed remarks.

—"One hundred dollars to $90 that Harrison is the next president; $50 to $40 that Harrison is the next president!" remarked a plunger at the Gilcher House Sunday night. It is understood that both bets were taken.

—The football game between the Cincinnati University team and the Centre College eleven Saturday, added another to the latter's unbroken list of victories. It was an exciting one and stubbornly contested from the beginning. A large crowd was present. Robinson, the captain of the Cincinnati, had his left arm dislocated and was replaced by Woodward.

ONE YEAR AGO.

W. P. S. IN OWNERSHIP OF THE AUTHOR.

Alone to-night in my dreary room,
Alone amid the silent gloom,
Recalling days too bright to last,
While burning tears fall thick and fast,
Was it thus I felt one year ago?
Had I tasted then this bitter woe?

Ah! no, for life seemed then so bright
And I'd never feel its chilling blight;
My heart was strong in its sweetest strain,
But fate has snatched its chords in twain;
The flowers of life are withered—dead—
Like the loved ones sleeping in their bed.

There are vacant chairs round the hearth to-night
And the unshed tears will dim our sight;
There are footprints less on the pure white snow
Than marked its face one year ago;
There are voices, too, that we miss away
That rang out then so glad and gay.

One year ago there stood by my side
A beautiful maid in her youthful pride;
She told of the laurels I should win,
Of a life untouch'd, unstained by sin;
"You'll gather the pearls for your shining life,
You'll make our future fair and bright."

But the parting came, and "Farewell then,"
She whispered soft, "till we meet again."
Till we meet again? When shall it be?
On the beautiful shore of Eternity?
We shall meet "up there" to part no more,
To gather pearls on the Golden Shore.

EVERY FRIDAY.

A simple cross mark under the rooster, as shown above, made by the rubber stamp to be found in the booth, will insure your vote to be counted for the full democratic ticket. That is all that is necessary, if you go to scratching, you are apt to get mixed and have your ballot thrown out for irregularity.

The election to-day is one of the most important in the history of the country. Besides a president and vice-president, 356 congressmen are to be elected and 26 legislatures upon which will devolve the duty of choosing U. S. senators, which may change the political personnel of that body. Of the 26 senators to be elected, 16 are to succeed republican and 10 democratic members. Should the party of the people (not the people's party) elect Cleveland and Stevenson, that result would in all probability give all the branches of the government to the democrats, who will then have the first chance in 30 years to redeem the promises they have made. Is not this consummation, devoutly to be wished, sufficient to put every democrat on his mettle? Let each make it a point to-day, rain or shine, sink or swim, to go to the polls and vote the full ticket by placing the cross under the rooster.

Good reports continue to come from Garrard, Mercer and Boyle. The democrats do not even concede his home county to Capt. Herndon, while they are confident of 350 majority in Mercer and not less than 50 in Boyle. If Lincoln county democrats do their duty, as they now seem determined to do, Judge Saulley's majority in the district will be anywhere from 500 to 700. Considering his fitness for the office his democratic constituents so unanimously nominated him for, his defeat would be in the nature of a calamity, which fortunately is not among the probabilities. Let no democrat relax his enthusiasm, however, or think his vote is not needed. Our friends, the coons, will be out in full force with the other crew forming the motley crowd, and with so much at stake there shouldn't breathe a democrat with soul so dead as not to be up and doing his full duty.

AUDITOR NORMAN refused to submit an agreed case to test the question of the liability of his bondsmen, should he pay the World's Fair appropriation under the bill passed by the Legislature, but stood out for a decision as to its constitutionality. The case came before Judge Monfort at Frankfort, Saturday, when he sustained the demurrer of the commissioners and ordered the auditor to issue the warrants, holding the constitutionality of the act is not at issue. The auditor at once appealed the case, thereby showing that the question is one of personal pride with him, and in order to beat the governor, he would deprive Kentucky of representation at the great fair. Mr. Norman evidently thinks he is a "bigger" man than old Grant, old Brown or any of the boys.

Gov. McKINLEY has been making a death struggle during the campaign. Beginning in Maine, he has made speeches in nearly every State in the Union and last week traveled 4,500 miles and spoke 55 times, mostly from the private car he occupies at the expense of the railroads. If Harrison wins, McKINLEY is dead sure for the republican nomination next time; if he is defeated it will be a settler for the McKINLEY tariff law as well as for all the aspirations of the governor of Ohio. Under the circumstances, it is very natural that he got a move on him early in the action and has been hustling ever since.

To-day ends the most remarkable of presidential campaigns, in that there has been less excitement, no personalities and little, if any, mud flinging. It has been a business campaign, in which neither the personal character of Mr. Cleveland nor President Harrison has been discussed. The appeal has been to the reasons and not to the passions of men and in the arguments the democrats have had the advantage from the start. There are a great many more democrats than republicans in this country and they are going to assert themselves to-day and drive the republican conspirators out of power forever.

The Cincinnati Enquirer, from careful estimates made by two or more correspondents in each of the 92 counties in Indiana, figures the democratic majority to-day at not less than 4,000. In making the estimates the republicans have in every case been given the advantage and the paper is willing to put up money that Indiana's electoral vote will go to Cleveland and Stevenson.

The best calculation regarding the election that the rabid Cincinnati Commercial Gazette can make gives Harrison 214 votes and Cleveland 157. This gives Cleveland 4 votes in Michigan and leaves Connecticut, Indiana, New York, New Jersey and West Virginia doubtful, though most of these are as sure to give Cleveland their vote as Kentucky is.

The Shelbyville News has blossomed into a semi-weekly and its publishers, Cozine & McCreight, are to be congratulated on taking the forward step in country journalism.

Col. W. O. BRADLEY passed through to his home Sunday after a month's stay in New York with the National Committee, of which he is a member, and a speech making tour through West Virginia and Indiana, both of which States he says are as sure for Harrison as tomorrow's sun rises and about whose election he hasn't the shadow of a doubt. He made 12 speeches and was everywhere received with enthusiasm. The colonel thinks that the democrats have slightly the advantage in New York, but he is not willing to concede the State to Cleveland. He says it is all bosh about the republicans having so much money to debauch the voters, that the National committee has had all it could do to meet legitimate expenses and that he happens to know that the democratic committee was in the same fix. Carnegie has not subscribed $100,000, as alleged, or a cent for that matter, and the contributions for the campaign fund have been principally from the officeholders, who have not been as liberal as usual. Col. Bradley endeavored to look happy and confident, but he succeeded badly and left the impression on our reporter that he was not half as sure of republican success as he tried to appear to be.

CHAUSKEY DEWEY, who two years ago eulogized Mr. Cleveland at a dinner at the Astor House in the highest terms, speaking of him among other things as the highest type of American citizen, is now trying to counteract the effect of his words. He admits that he made the speech, but says he always keeps a supply of taffy to please the boys and he let loose a little that night on Cleveland, who is far from being the man to day that was then. In trying to "reign" Mr. Dewey shows the manner of man he is. Insincere and vain-glorious, all his utterances should be regarded with suspicion and he himself held up for derision.

Mr. HARRITY, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, expresses himself confident of Cleveland's election. He says he will get the Southern States with 159 votes, New York 36, New Jersey 10, Indiana 15, Wisconsin Connecticut 8, total, 244, or 21 more than is necessary to elect. The only doubt in his mind is in regard to West Virginia, which if lost will still leave the democratic ticket 238. Senator Gorman and others of the committee are equally confident.

The instructions of Attorney General Miller to U. S. marshals and supervisors of elections is likely to cause serious trouble to-day, in New York, especially. The democrats do not propose to have these meddling officials nosing around and intimidating voters and if a collision occurs it will be alone chargeable to the republicans. Should it occur early in the morning in New York, the Harrison electors would be downed clean out of sight.

PAULINE HALL, the actress whose histrionic powers do not equal her exceeding beauty of face, limb and figure, is suing a New York paper for criticizing her acting and stating that she is "traveling alone on her legs." Pretty Pauline should not take exceptions to that. Most women, and men, too, travel on their legs, if they are sound and not amputated.

Editor SAMSON, of the Bourbonville Herald, accuses Editor Dains, of the Middleboro News, of "mercenary accusations." We do not know what it means further than that it is something terrible, and if Brer. Dains don't fight he will have to take the Herald's advice to go back to his hole in the Catskill mountains and draw it in after him.

The editor of the Louisville Critic, Daniel E. O'Sullivan, has developed into a caricaturist, whose efforts are likely to surpass those of Thomas Nast in his palmiest days. Dan is a genius and the Critic is free lance ready to run into anybody's entrails who does not keep in the middle of the road as measured by it.

We have received several copies of the new Whitley County Advocate, recently "launched on the sea of journalism" by R. A. Steele and J. M. Sullivan. It is neat, new and neutral and we trust will prove profitable in a pecuniary sense to its proprietors, as it will in an intellectual sense to its readers.

The Associated Press estimates that the democratic majority in the next House will be greatly reduced, it is 115 now, but that an ample working majority will be left.

In the history of the world no such a battle has ever been waged as that of the battle of the ballots which will occur to-day. It is estimated that 14,000,000 of men will be in line to assert the prerogative of freemen. Were the question only one of popular majority, the democrats would win in spite of "the predictions of republican success, based upon the ability of that party to purchase the votes of the people," as Mr. Cleveland expressed it in his Lenox Hall speech. There are fully 1,000,000 more democrats in this country than republicans.

FINDING that they stand no other show in New York, the republicans will try to intimidate democratic voters by swearing in an army of marshals and supervisors. The people there, however, are not in favor of this kind of force law and will resent the indignity to the bitter end, if necessary, and drive the miserable conspirators to the wall. The democrats say they will carry New York though republican marshals, boodle and all hell prevail against them.

A SPECIAL in yesterday's Courier Journal says that the New York Herald, which has leaned toward Harrison during the entire campaign and employed those two eminent journalists, Murat Halstead and John A. Cockerill, to furnish it with good Harrison literature, concedes in its editorial and news columns the election of Grover Cleveland, from reports based upon careful figures from both sides and independent investigation. New York it considers absolutely safe for the democratic ticket.

The Commercial Gazette said yesterday: "The situation is one of uncertainty never before known in a National campaign. The only prediction can be made with certainty is that the result of Tuesday's election will be a surprise." This shows that the republicans have given it up and that we are sure of "Four years more of Grover."

YESTERDAY'S reports show that Indiana is safe for the democratic ticket by 10,000 majority. Everything seems to be working together for good to us who love the Lord.

YESTERDAY'S Enquirer said that even Ohio wasn't so sure for Harrison. Great Jehosaphat, is everything coming our way?

DEMOCRATS vote early and be of good cheer. We've got them dead to rights.

Mr. M. D. ELMORE went to Lexington Sunday to see his brother, Newell, who is ill in the asylum there.

Mrs. H. L. STUCKER and her pretty daughter, Miss Leah, of Craig Orchard, were with friends here Saturday.

Mr. A. E. HENDLEY will in a few days have his new house completed. It occupies the site of the old Logan home-stead. -Advocate.

Mr. F. M. ASKLEY has moved to Mrs. Kate Dunder's house on Lancaster street and Mr. C. J. Thompson has taken the house he vacated on lower Main.

Miss MARY McKINNEY went to Louisville Saturday to remain with Miss Julia Yager till after her marriage to Mr. Short, a Chicago traveling man, on the 23d.

In the list of maids of honor at the "Satellites' Ball" Misses Minnie Bohon, of Harrodsburg, and Margaret Chensault, of Richmond, are the only ones from this section.

Mr. L. D. SAMSON, of Harrodsburg, was down to see his democratic girl last night and if she worked it right she made him miss the train and his vote for Harrison to-day.

W. F. SMITH, chief train dispatcher, was called to Louisville Saturday to assist in making a new schedule for this division, which will probably go into effect next Sunday.

W. M. BOYLE, who had been with the L. & N. for so many years, is now with the Georgia Central, at Chattanooga, as local agent. The offer of better pay alone made him leave his old job.

Mr. W. D. WEATHERFORD left for his home near Hustonville on Wednesday, after a week's stay in Richmond. He is a staid old farmer now and is raising stock—live, as well as hankstock. -Richmond Register.

Mr. C. C. CARSON has secured the position of traveling salesman for Fellows & Co., New York, and started on the road yesterday. Collars and cuffs are the specialty of his house and in that line they are said to be at the top. Mr. Carson will cover the territory of Kentucky and Tennessee.

The Richmond Register says that Gov. and Mrs. James B. McCreary will leave to-day for New York city, whence they will sail on Friday for Europe. Gov. McCreary is one of the commission of five to represent the United States at the International Monetary Conference, to be held shortly at Brussels.

The monument to Editor J. B. Rucker is to be of granite, 22 feet high and is to cost $650. The Republican says it has already been contracted for.

The report reached here that the Courier-Journal had bought up the entire edition of the Louisville Commercial yesterday, but what for, we were unable to learn.

JAMES REYNOLDS, a Waynesburg merchant, lost his store by fire last week, supposed to have been set by an incendiary. Loss $2,000, three-fourths covered by insurance.

The care of the town clock has been let to Robert Fenzel, the lowest bidder, at $40 a year. We hope that he will see that it strikes regularly. It didn't sound a note for a couple of days.

THE change of schedule on the Cincinnati Southern is noted on our 4th page. Direct connection is now made at Junction City north and south by the L. & N. day trains.

The unbeaten Centre College football team defeated the University of Cincinnati team Saturday by a score of 12 to 4 and the Central University team downed the State College 8 to 6.

Should these lines reach the eyes of any democrat to-day who has not voted, let him go out once and discharge that patriotic duty. If he waits till 4 o'clock his vote will not be recorded at this election.

HAVING sold out our coal business to Mr. R. B. Mahony, we ask that our old friends and as many new ones as may see fit to give him the liberal patronage they have given us. He is sole agent for the Woodruff-Jellison Coal. B. K. & W. H. Wearen.

THE three voting places in town will be at the Court House, Dr. Hocker's store-room on Depot street and the Engine House, foot of Lancaster street. Get your bearings from last paper and vote early, you who are going to put the cross under the rooster.

THERE is one good thing about the new election law. All the bar-rooms have to be closed from 12 o'clock Monday night to 12 o'clock Tuesday night and no intoxicating liquors can be sold, loaned, given or furnished to any one on election day, under heavy penalties. Under this state of case we expect to have many reports begin, "The election passed off quietly."

THE INTERIOR JOURNAL has arranged for the press dispatches and the election news will begin to arrive as soon after 4 o'clock this afternoon as it can be sent. Mr. Joe S. Rice, the accommodating operator, will receive the dispatches in the ticket office of the passenger depot and they will be read aloud to those holding tickets in both of the waiting rooms. He has kindly consented to stay up all night if necessary.

A. T. NUNNELLY, now traveling in Texas, sends Pete Hampton a copy of the Mail, an influential daily paper, containing a long interview with him on the business and political situation. Fatty talks like a man of sagacity and general understanding and leaves the impression clearly that he is no Hogg—supporter in the race for governor, whose re-election he thinks would set the commercial interests of the State back ten years.

IN a drunken fight Friday Elias Simpson cut Pete Huston, another negro, in the side, barely missing the heart. Judge Carson saw the act and the marshal not being present he ordered Highland Jim Carter and Jim Farmer to take the men to jail, which they did in short order. The charge against Simpson is malicious cutting and wounding with intent to kill, and against Huston breach of the peace. The trial is set for to-morrow.

THE Richmond Register says that Geo. Weatherford christened his new bar in the Hotel Glyndon, than which there is no handsomer in fixtures or more beautiful tables in the State, last week, by offering $300 worth of Chopin & Gore's inimitable brand of champagne, to any nothing of the other drinkables. To an outsider it looked like Cleveland had already been elected and the boys were celebrating. George is undoubtedly in the swim and is bound to come out on top.

FREE CONCERT.—Admirers of strictly high class music should not fail to bear the open-air concert to be given by Gorton's famous Gold Band in front of the post-office Wednesday, Nov. 9, at 2:15 p. m. This band is well remembered here and the people can feel assured that a genuine musical treat is in store for them. Mr. Sam Lee, a former Lexington boy, who has become a cornet soloist of unusual ability, will be heard in an excellent solo, as will also Master Joe Gorton, the youngest and most brilliant boy artist on the euphonium before the public. Immediately after the concert the entire company will make a grand uniform parade, led by Corporal Johnston, the military marvel, who will do some wonderful work with his rifle and bayonet.

ALL the fire-fighting apparatus has arrived and will be put in shape for work to-day.

FOR RENT.—Two rooms over Severance & Son's store. Apply to Will N. Craig or Dr. Steele Bailey.

MISS MARY VARNON sold 200,000 feet of lumber from her Whitley county lands at $2 per thousand measured in the tree.

JOHN BRIGHT reports a great deal of weevil in the corn in the shock and prophesies that next year there will be a famine.

SINE & MENEFEE are building an office for Rev. R. B. Mahony at his coal yards near the Standard Oil Company's building to the north of the depot.

R. B. MAHONY, successor to B. K. & W. H. Wearen, is sole agent at Stanford for the Woodruff-Jellison Coal. Leave your order with W. H. Wearen & Co.

THE attention of our West End readers and others is called to the advertisement of Joseph Solomon, who is offering a great bankrupt stock for sale at Hustonville.

HENRY GILPIN, the negro charged with stealing a horse from George Carter, was discharged by Judge Carson yesterday, on motion of County Attorney Paxton, no witness appearing against him.

I NEED every cent due me now to buy my stock of goods, which I shall shortly open in the new store. This is intended for every one indebted to me. So please call and settle. W. B. McRoberts.

AN EXTRA.—If the election news to-night is of such a nature as to warrant it, our readers may look out for an extra edition of this paper to-morrow. We hope and believe we will be able to sing, "Praise God from Whom all blessings flow."

GORTON'S New Orleans Minstrels will arrive on the 2 o'clock train to-morrow and as soon as they can get ready will give their luminous serenade. Come in and hear it and if you have not already done so, call at McRoberts' drug store and secure a seat.

THE little republican houses have been displaying a great deal of perniciosity activity for the last week and the bar-keepers tell us that they have put much money about, that is, they allege that the rooms are able to drink more and pay for it than usual.

IT rained Sunday night and yesterday morning in such an old-fashioned manner that it seemed to be set in for a spell but the clouds lifted before noon and the following dispatch from the weather bureau indicates that we are to have a fine day for the election: "Clearing, with cold wave Tuesday."

THIS paper was gotten out under difficulties. Two of the force, including the business manager, were sick in bed and one had arranged to go hunting. Our correspondents went back on us too, with two exceptions, as will be seen. But we got there all the same and are able to bid you a very good morning, as usual.

ANOTHER HOUSE.—Mr. and Mrs. Rolt Fenzel have contracted with Sine & Menefee to build a cottage on their lot in the North End for $700. It will be so arranged that a handsome front can be built to it later on. Mr. Fenzel has rented the room lately vacated by Dr. J. A. Amos and will open up his jewelry stock there.

THE Mammoth Shoe and Clothing Store, Louisville, will run special trains from various points, including Junction City, next Saturday, to the Lillian Russell La Cigale matinee, at the Auditorium. Train leaves Junction City at 6 A. M. Fare for the round-trip $2.75, which will be refunded by the enterprising firm if you purchase as much as $30 from them. From Danville the fare is $2.50.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—The Baptist Women of Kentucky will hold a State missionary meeting in connection with the General Association which will convene in Covington Nov. 12.

—The church extension committee of the Northern Methodist church in session at Philadelphia reports that the gross receipts during the year ending Oct. 31, were $319,980. Since the beginning the receipts have been $4,049,799. In 1892, 603 churches were added, the total since beginning being 8,540.

—The Lincoln County Auxiliary of the American Bible Society met at the Christian church Sunday night and was called to order by President M. F. Elkin and opened with prayer by Rev. W. E. Arnold and the reading of the Scriptures by Rev. A. V. Sizemore, both of whom made appropriate speeches and appeals for contributions. The result was that cash and pledges were received of $34.90. J. S. Hughes was then elected president, John J. McRoberts, secretary and treasurer, the resident pastors vice-presidents and W. B. McRoberts, depository, and the meeting adjourned to meet next November in the Presbyterian church.

A POPULAR STORY WRITER.

A Fair Tennessean Who Has Won Fame as an Actress and a Writer.

Miss Viola Roseboro is a Tennessean by birth and lineage, but she has lived little in her native state, having, as she admits, being "brought up all over the country." She removed to New York about ten years ago. Miss Roseboro was on the stage for three years and was successful, but literature held the first place in her affections and lured her from the footlights.

For five years she has been writing for magazines and newspapers. She has done a wide variety of newspaper work with marked brilliancy and adaptability, but her most enduring renown has been gained by her short stories. Most of these have appeared in The Century, and will be recalled as possessing unusual originality and grace. She shifts her scenes at will, and is as much at home in portraying life in a New York "flat" as she is when she gives the "simple annals" of the Tennessee backwoods "cracker."

Miss Roseboro loves New York city passionately and hopes to make it her home, but just at present is living in Ohio, in close attendance on her dearly loved mother, who is an invalid. The Century company has just brought out a volume of her stories called "Old Ways and New." They are clever, fascinating and dramatic.

VIOLA ROSEBORO.

She is modest, as is all true worth, and says that her "chief claim to distinction is the fact that she is not contemplating writing either a novel or a play." This is to be regretted, as it is quite certain that she is splendidly capable of writing a fine novel, turning it into a good play, and then acting the leading role to the delight of all beholders. She is young and passing fair to see. Her face is strong as well as beautiful, and in social life she is engaging, stimulating and entertaining.

A Convenience for Smokers.

A box to hold burned matches and cigar ashes is a great convenience to those who smoke. Such receptacles are not always ornamental in a room, but here is one that is. It is designed to be hung on the wall, and the foundation is a board as wide or a trifle wider than a cigar box and twice as long. This is covered with rough drawing paper tacked on after being dampened with a sponge and water. It shrinks slightly in drying, and so dries perfectly smooth over the board. Somewhat below the center of the board a shelf of thin wood is placed, painted black and set on two fancy black iron brackets. This shelf is a little wider than the width of a cigar box which is to be set on it.

The box is covered inside and out with a coat of asphalt varnish, which is black. Before the outside dries sprinkle the sides with bird gravel; let it dry on; then put another coat of the varnish. On the shelf above the box a water color scene is painted on the paper, and the rest of it down to the bottom of the board is gilded. A few dashes of black paint—a suggestion of a branch and leaves on either side of the painting—will relieve the plain gold, and the front and sides of the black varnished box are similarly dashed with a few streaks of gold. Under the box a little square of black enameled paper is tacked against the gold background to scratch matches on. If desired the box may be partitioned off into several places—one to hold cigars, one for good matches and one for the ashes and burned matches. This last may contain a tray with straps to lift it out easily when it needs to be emptied.

To Carry a "Makrup."

A pretty party bag is made of half a yard of golden brown satin, with a border on each end of plush a shade darker than the satin and seven inches deep. This is doubled lengthwise and the ends and sides sewed up, leaving a space of fourteen inches in the center. Line with brown silk, and put a row of pretty tassels on each end. Slip two large brass rings in, and you have a convenient bag in which to carry slippers, fan, extra hairpins, etc., and which of course is left in the dressing room.

THE BEES.

The bees need weeding out in the fall of the year as well as the poultry and stock. For the highest profit in keeping the smallest number of bees should be wintered consistent with good management. Bees that are wintered properly require a great deal of care and feeding. A weak colony will often die for lack of warmth, and it is better in the fall to join two or three such small colonies in one. They can be wintered better in this condition, and they do better in the hive. Overcrowding must be avoided, but then too few in the hive must also be guarded against. The mistake of many is to carry more bees through the winter than they can actually attend to, and instead of making more profit from such a number of colonies they actually make less. Poorly wintered, the bees die in numbers, and another season the numbers will be decimated more than if less had been kept.

Unprofitable colonies should be done away with. Facilities should be provided for those that are to be kept. Hives, sections, foundations and all other useful things should be obtained before cold weather comes, and an exact estimate should be made of how many can be wintered in the cellar or outside. It does not pay to starve the bees, and syrup of granulated sugar and water should be provided in sufficient time and quantity to keep the bees in good health. The amount of sugar needed for this purpose is often quite an item in the beekeeper's expenses, and every pound thus used should be made of value.

The wintering must be done gradually. The hives should be protected more and more as the season advances. The fall flowers gradually grow less in number, and bees are unable to find sufficient to eat. The comb honey will then often be consumed if they are not watched. If more bees than there is actually honey to feed in the neighboring woods and fields, starvation will starve the bees in the face in the fall. More food will then have to be doled out than will ever be paid for by the honey. The number must be reduced at once before another honey season arrives.

Even if wintered in the bee cellar the hives should be kept out of doors until very late in the season. The bees do better when they are not shut up in some artificial place where the surroundings are gloomy and close. Sufficient protection can be given with straw until the middle of December. If the hives are situated in a sunny place and protected somewhat by trees or the barn, the little inmates do better than if wintered in protected hives out of doors. During warm midwinter days then they will come out and take a fly around to air themselves and stretch their cramped limbs. This is of great value to them, for it prevents often foul brood and filthiness in the hive. One cannot be too careful in this respect, for it influences the bees all through the honey season, often contaminating the honey itself. Wintering in cellars has a tendency to breed disease and dirt unless the owner is very careful.—Helen Wharabardon in American Cultivator.

Beef and Silage.

I do not believe any stockman can maintain a herd of beef cattle in fine form for any continued period unless a reasonable amount of succulent feed of some kind is provided for his animals during the long winter months. Where dry feed only is available stock will never show that thrifty, healthy appearance made possible by the addition of some moist food. Oilmeal, to be sure, will help very materially, but it is an expensive food, very fattening in its nature, and only a little can be used successfully with breeding stock. Cooked feed, too, will produce practically the same results as succulent feed, but the cost of preparation makes it more expensive than silage or roots.

Practically, therefore, succulent feed of some kind is a necessity with fine breeding stock, and the choice narrows down in most cases to roots and silage. Cheap storage can be provided for roots, and where money is scarce I would advise growing them until one is in condition to construct a silo without seriously feeling its expense. A limited use of silage for breeding stock of the best breeds—Shorthorns and others—will prove extremely helpful in keeping the animals in winter time in that grassy condition so satisfactory to the eye of the stockman. Silage fed animals shed their coats early and will be in fine condition earlier in the springtime than if fed on dry grain—another point of considerable advantage.—Professor Henry in Breeder's Gazette.

Live Stock Points.

The Gold Spangled Hamburgs are exceeding handsome fowls. For persons who want ornamental chickens nothing is better. They are feathered in the breast like an English cock pheasant. Besides being so handsome, they are good layers and their meat is first class. They are of medium size.

Some farmers have succeeded well with corn ensilage for breeding ewes. They have also been able to raise lambs on it with profit.

Now that the millionaire Vice President Morton is in the incubator business, and makes no chicken bones of the fact, perhaps those who sneered at ex-President Hayes because he found his pleasure in fancy fowl breeding may censure their jibes. It is much better to raise good chickens than to wrestle with bad politicians.

If you want late winter broilers, set your incubators going in November, or set your hens, if you prefer raising the broilers in that way.
When it is time to take the pigs away from the sow, stop giving sloppy food and roots that her milk may dry up. It is better to begin this as soon as the pigs have learned to drink milk at the trough. They should have a trough so arranged that the sow cannot get to it, and sweet milk should be given, milk warm at first

H. T. BUSH,

REAL ESTATE AGENT
Stanford, Ky.

I have quite a number of FARMS for sale of the best land in the Lincoln National Bank county. These farms are all well improved and good rich lands, ranging in size from 30 to 100 Acres. Considerable tracts of land are also available for sale. The convenience of timeliness and roads, the best market right in our door, they are cheaper than the lands of any other county in the State. I have a fine farm in the county, 110 acres, under a lease for 21 years.

The country is thick with turnips running in every direction. There is not a public school in the county that is not well attended. We have the Knoxville Branch of the L. & N. R. R. dividing the county from East to West and the C. & O. R. R. running North to South; the K. & E. R. R. from this point to Cincinnati, crossing the C. & O. at Winchester, giving full access to the markets of the whole world. Besides, we have three large Flour Mills in the county that give us a market for all our grain right at home, and the development of the mountain regions of Eastern and Southern Kentucky by railroads and the outlet South by railroads has created such a demand for all kinds of cereals and timber that we can scarcely raise enough to supply our home consumption.

The people are prosperous, generous and kind, believing in Christianity and education. There is not a neighborhood in the county but has a good church and school house.
Stanford, the county seat of Lincoln, is a prosperous little city of about 2,000 inhabitants and is the great gateway from the North and Northeast South and from the Northwest to Southeast, and standing as it does facing right into the bottom of the undulating mountains of Southeastern Kentucky backed up by the whole Blue-Grass region of the State with railroads running through it to all points of the compass, makes it naturally one of the best located towns in the South for manufacturers and other enterprises of magnitude. Water Works are now being agitated and eight miles from the town about three-fourths of a mile there could be erected Water Works with very little cost that would supply a city of 10,000 inhabitants with the purest and best water in the world. Our little city is in a flourishing condition. The last few years and its business houses and residences will compare with larger cities of greater pretensions. Our merchants and tradesmen are all prosperous and doing well. We have two banks with a capital stock of $300,000 that are prosperous and in a good condition.

We have a splendid school. We have a Female College, a large brick building, with over 100 pupils in attendance and under the principalship of Prof. J. M. Hubbard, is in a flourishing condition. We also have a Seminary that is a good school, with Prof. H. F. Johnson, at its head. We have one of the best Public School buildings in the section of the State, with over 100 pupils in attendance, and with other good private schools, you see our school facilities are excellent.

We have elegant church buildings, representing every denomination, with a full corps of ministers of fine class talent and are doing a better business than any class of men in the county.

I have tried to make this statement as facts, without any exaggeration or coloring, as those who know will bear me out, and those who wish to buy pleasant homes at fair prices and locate among a good people with all the best surroundings, would do well to call and see me before purchasing elsewhere.
